

Death of a Veteran Journalist.

New Orleans, August 7—Durant La Pointe, a veteran journalist and financier, died to-day at Alameda, Cal., of a paralytic stroke. He was sixty-five years of age and the grandson of the Librettist of Don Giovanni and other operas. He was at one time editor of the Picayune and other papers but made a fortune in speculation and retired from literary work.
